

Studying, College, Reality and the Gods

Wed May 11, 2016 4:08 am

By High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

[Members argued about the Social Marxist universities and colleges of today, etc. None of these replies are a personal reply to anyone, but rather, a transpersonal reply for all.]

[It all just boils down to one's self knowledge and understanding that they are responsible for their choices or lack thereof. So long this happens, everything should be fine and everyone should be safe. There are also different social, cultural backgrounds, different countries, different possibilities, different dreams, different aims and different persons in all of this. So everything must be adjusted accordingly. Its impossible and not needed to create a general rule, so I approached the subject from all sides. The main point is to defeat the jew, from all sides and to elevate yourselves to a high level of existence. Be it in science, religion, construction working, farming, wherever. The roads and paths people will take are up to them. Below its more of a general reply.]

My replies:

Way too much of a bad advice. It doesn't matter if the colleges or universities are jew'd totally out of existence. Society has formed in the way that they are useful, for things that might be useless observed from a standpoint, but from another, they are a matter of life and death...So how useless are they? So long you are in there, lay low and don't try to attack the sheeple hordes (which exist everywhere in society) or you don't burn your brain with drugs, you are absolutely fine. So, the rot aside, this can be really a useful thing.

Satanists need to be scientists and creators as well. With whatever means are provided today. Advising people to not go in college if they are meant to go or if they have the "intelligence" or "adaptability" to do is merely bad. A debate by some stupid idiots doesn't pose proof of that. Idiots, kikes and imbeciles exist everywhere. Yes, home schooling is the best thing, but few to no people have the decent patience to sit down and school themselves, or study appropriately. or are willing to give any time into it without external force. You though have to be entirely sure that what you want to study, is what you want. Make sure it agrees with your personality. Now if it sucks too much, you can take route two, which is merely creating money. Again, this would require studying, even if it would a technical university or anything. Or you can merely use your money to get into bussiness at once. All these choices are in your hands, though...

One must remember that the "masses" or the "broad masses" (normal people) were totally illiterate some centuries ago. Most couldn't write their names, at best. Studying the work of Adam Smith (Some call him the father of Liberalism or Capitalism, but its fabrication of his to fill in political agenda) and you will understand why. Satan wants knowledge for ALL people on EARTH. This is why the WWW (666) provides this. Knowledge should also be for free. Most expensive books and useful manuals, cost hundreds upon hundreds of dollars, so they cannot be bought by most people. The Gods made it happen and it was a highlight in history. This gave rise to new things, for better or for worse. Worse, because the enemy uses these means of freedom to enslave the populace as always in history.

At least, the West isn't a massive cattle under the jews anymore as it once were. People can at least study now. All these chances are to be SEIZED and NOT TAKEN FOR GRANTED. If someone can't write their own name, or aren't studied, they are an easy target to be prey'd upon, especially by jews and agents who spend tens of years in classes of deception, robbing money in "legal" ways and everything else. This is why the enemy tried education into ed-jew-cation, but this again, shouldn't be the reason for people to stay away.

Look at the average joe around and you will see why this happens. Live and let be, who cares about society, a big chunk of social marxism or liberalism, plus maybe xianity. Recipe for social disaster. And that's that. It would be better if they were studied a bit, so when they hopped on our philospfy. Though of course, if one is stupid, they can be brainwashed by the television, by their college books, by their church or whatever else. It poses no difference. There are though grades in how one is brainwashed. Also, not all sciences are the same. Satanists with their occult knowledge have a big hand in getting forward in the scientific profession. They have serious chances of winning over.

For serious world take over, we need serious people who are levelheaded on what we have in front of us today. Yes, in 20 years there MAY-BE NS all over the west. Now though, what the fuck is going on? This wishy washy thinking has made people to just expect things to fall from the sky. Also, if you look at who pulls what, you will see important people in this movement as well, and serious people.

These ideas that you can somehow sit in your mother's basement, doing weed, and wake up and find yourself successful in life, are all pure bullshit. However tainted, universities are important. And of course, Satanists are strong players. Strong players don't disassociate themselves from the game, they get in and win this game. You can change this and make a very serious difference.

On the meanwhile, based on ideas of defeatism, boredom or intellectualized stupidity, the enemy gets their diploma's and PHD's and they shovel it at the faces of their enemies, making up pseudoscience and the list goes. They laugh at this, because they are infiltrating these institutions and kept making more and more Marxist and Christian as times went. To the point that now, as some reasonably argue about, these pinnacles of knowledge have become communist garbage and monsters.

The info provided in universities, is not by any means "worthless" though. Nothing is worthless in the eyes of someone useful. And to merely disregard this is entirely stupid. Even when it comes to social Marxism within them, this is not a good reason to not attend.

Except if you are so stupid that you are afraid you will be brainwashed without your consent. Simply, it doesn't matter what you are given, but what you make of it. And in this case a Satanic mind that is aware can turn this around to their benefit. There are also social reasons why this is important and things are what they are right now.

Most of these people have common sense. Not the students, but the teachers, aren't in any stretch of imagination merely "stupid". Most of them know entirely well what they are doing, as in spewing Marxism and the list goes. They are though, not stupid in anyway.

Though, the enemy has made it that many people have to get into debt or they don't have money to attend these sanctuaries of Marxism. If you are to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars in debt and you aren't even deciding to do anything like this in your future, get on a Technical school and become home studied, work yourself and move forward with your meditations. It all boils down to self knowledge and decisions. I know most people who just feel bad about not doing this later, but when they understood later, it was too late. This doesn't have to be the case for new Satanists. Some people though from here would be very good for the University professions and such.

Though, eventhough plasmatic and "fake" this knowledge may be, in today's world, it has impact and money involved. What is a stock market when it comes to eternal nature? Nothing. What is a stock market when it comes to America nowadays? Everything. This "silly" system has come to the point it can drag down everyone and destroy countries or the economy of the world. Therefore, how silly is it know about it? How "worthless" is to know it or not? This should answer lots of questions.

Social change doesn't merely happen by gut and by choice, or by spiritual warfare. Action is needed. Weren't it for certain highly prominent figures to go out and speak out, there would be no Satanism or no NS to survive after WW2. Some people though, knew the Truth. Take for instance David Irving. He got some education, but never finished. This nevertheless gave him the ground to be recognized more than an ordinary slob who just writes stuff. This is of course the enemy labelling people like this.

There is exceptionally cunning, knowledge and understanding with physical and concrete knowledge based on what the enemy is pulling off. Thinking one can take down an army of helicopters with a shovel or a bow, and you can see what idiots they are. Yes, wishful thinking, hoping and aspiring are one thing. Aspiring stupid things is another. You simply cannot take a helicopter down with a shovel, however the jewish movies have emphasized this, or made you believe that somehow "God" or the "Gods" hide behind the stupidly "impossibly" or the totally irrational. Such as you can throw a shovel and kill the helicopter rider. Okay hero, you did it. Then what? There are probably around 100 more helicopters let's say. At best, this wishful thinking can produce a heroic death or a movie scene. It cannot produce the new reality that we want, in the long term and eternally. The thinking should better be like, better as well get a helicopter and then maybe you stand a chance. More chances if you form an army of Helicopters.

Unfortunately, however truthful and correct someone may be nowadays, there are these limitations involved and one has to look at reality on the face in the end. People care more about who says it, than what is said. And this is the gruesome reality. If you are an illiterate villager, you can understand the greatest Truths of reality, but the kike will come on the side with their papers and all their bullshit, and deceive people anyway. He had a deception class on his Yeshiva, and you didn't know what it did or have the skill to undo it. So guess who wins. Reality has become halfway what it always was, half judaism. Some people can't take this and I get this, but for those who have the opportunities, they must be seized at all costs. For your personal survival and for the common as well.

Moving away, locking one's self into his mother's basement and expecting life to happen, is the worst for of advice and defeatism (I speak in general, not like anyone did this here). You might as well advise someone to merely slit their wrists and die.

Too many people are tying the problems, benefits and ways of their personality in Satanism, or how they see life. Thing is, Truth is not close to this, its further. We have to look at reality in the eyes without fear. If one is a defeatist, or if they are lazy, or into drugs, or whatever, this has nothing to do with Satanism and mentally trying to make it into a rational explanation by the knowledge and Truth provided by Satanism, is a mere bastard move to keep evading the realization that one needs to maybe, change their ways, to get what they want. Its not a race against reality or a big argument with the universe to prove yourself right. Rather, pay attention to what is going on.

-High Priest Hooded Cobra 666

Reply 2:

Now, whatever one picks to do, you must be the best at it, for many reasons. Everything has to be in the range of what is rational, plus your dreams and your gut. If you lose this balance its fairly easy to drop off. Put an aim and work for this, aim whatever aim it is. Don't deviate from it. And try to make up your mind soon, before circumstances force you to do so.

So years ago I knew a Satanist. He dropped out of school, saying that the Gods would teach him eventually. He did meditate, but nowhere close enough to even approach this level. And he was running out of time as shortly he would become an adult. He also didn't have any "family backup". This was of course coupled with other serious delusions, like, things would happen on their own for him because he was someone so important in a past life...Yea, right...You are...Everyone is...Somebody. We are filled with people who are sick by the sickness of stupid entitlement (thinking magick is going to sort out their entitlement issues and get them the mansions and planets they always were SUPPOSED to have, because they were born awesome), but we aren't filled by cutthroat people who have balls and get out there and get what they want. These are the people we need.

Well, turns out, reality doesn't really give quite the fuck on how entitled these people feel or trying to convince others they are. So he basically went impoverished and almost died in the process, let alone other things. Then he went on and blamed Satan for it, who has warned him every edge of the way. Obviously when he realized it wasn't Satan's mistake, this changed. This, he put up and he said it was "enemy influence" and that "he knew completely what he should do". He never, not even ONCE, blamed HIMSELF. Words, logical advice and the whole world, didn't mean nothing for this guy. He knew better. Given he knew so much better, the Gods after YEARS of EVERYDAY warning him in ALL possible ways, had to let it on the hands of fortune to set the guy straight. So when his Saturn came in, there was the damage all over the place. His opinion and his pseudophilosophies couldn't save them anymore. He had shortly turned to a reverse xian, that blames the devil for their drinking problem. The xian mentality was still strong in this person, eventhough of their claims. It guided their whole life into disaster.

Being an idiot, blurring the lines of reality, blowing one's life up and the rest of the loser attitudes, are not a part of Satanism in anyway, shape or form. Also, the Gods aren't wish granting machines or extensions of one's stupidity. Neither they have to pay the price for people's naivety and mistakes. The fact that the Gods have our backs, doesn't mean they will pay the price for all of your mistakes. This is christianity, where its the bullshit about how jesus lumped from a cliff and angels saved him. Its the same book where the earth is flat and 6000 years old. And where God is a male without a woman because they suck. So you know its just jews, jewing. Also, its not harry potter, where you move your wand and shit happens on its own in your life.

Jews lie to you. The reality? If you jump from a high cliff, you will either wind up disabled or dead. How they Gods would protect you? By telling you over and over again to stay away from the cliff and in distancing yourself from it. Now if you want to jump to prove your Harry Potter convictions right, I guess you deserve the fate of this american kid that jumped from a skyscraper, thinking they were superman, on a meth high or something. Turned out, reality didn't have the same opinion about them being superman. And they died.

Like the Gods have to fill in for anyone's wishful thinking and dreamland. He stopped attending to school in the early grades. As such, his life went downhill and then he found himself an adult with absolutely nothing to do, in a country that didn't provide anything for him. So guess what, shit just became even worse. The Gods are serious. They help, they assist, they guide. If you though pull a suicide move, don't expect passive aggressively to be saved, because chances are this attention who-ring towards them, or outright stupidity on your behalf, is not a price they are obligated to pay.

Don't try to overly exploit their eternal love for humanity and their never ending support.

I tell all of you this because I care for you...You must seek deeper in power than frail convictions. Power comes from Truth, knowledge, power and understanding, all of which aren't merely empty concepts, neither imaginative hallucinative crap. It's right here and right now.

-High Priest Hooded Cobra 666